Policy Statement

Maybird Training is dedicated to eliminating discrimination and promoting equality, diversity and Inclusion amongst our staff, apprentices, learners, apprentice employers and other stakeholders. Our aim is that everyone will feel respected, valued as an individual and have equal opportunity to our services and employment. Therefore, to ensure equality, inclusion, and fairness for all our recruitment, employment, training, and promotion of training, no staff member, apprentice, learner, employer, or other service user will be treated less favourably than another on grounds of any of the nine protected characteristics:

- Age
- Gender reassignment
- Married or in a civil partnership
- Pregnant or on maternity leave
- Disability
- Race, including colour, nationality, ethnic or national origin
- Religion and belief
- Sex
- Sexual orientation

Maybird Training is an equal opportunities and inclusive employer and actively encourages diversity with its workforce. The company takes its legal and ethical responsibilities seriously and recognises the proven business benefits attributable to fair procedures and diverse team.

Wherever possible Maybird Training will make adaptations to services to meet the needs of individuals with protected characteristics and places an obligation upon all staff and apprentices to respect and act in accordance with the policy and in line with the Equality Act 2010.

This policy is implemented with the Maybird Training Complaints, Safeguarding, Prevention of Extremism and Radicalisation, Data Protection, Learner Behaviour, Staff Code of Conduct, Acceptable use of IT and Grievance Policies. The policy also applies equally to the treatment of our customers and stakeholders.

Promotion, Training and Development

All staff, apprentices, learners, and employers will receive an induction training session including equality, diversity and inclusion and the policy will be disseminated during this time and after each policy revision/review.

This will include:

- An explanation of what the policy means to the Maybird Training, staff, apprentices, learners, or employers.
- An explanation of the form's discrimination can take (direct, indirect, victimisation and segregation).
- Guidance on the danger of generalised assumptions and prejudices.
- Contextualised examples of good practice in equality, diversity and inclusion and the impact of discrimination relevant to their role and responsibility.
- Teaching, learning, and assessment staff are given additional training to support equality, diversity and inclusion in teaching, learning and assessment practice (please see below).
- Equality, diversity, and inclusion will be mandatory on all meeting agendas to reinforce this and to identify and address any emerging training needs.

All staff will be appraised annually and there will be positive encouragement to discuss suitable development and training opportunities.

All staff will be required to complete mandatory annual equality and diversity training, to ensure contextualisation and full understanding of the policy. This will also be reinforced by the observation of teaching, learning and assessment process (please see below).

Apprentices will receive training on equality, diversity, and inclusion, which will be embedded and delivered within their apprenticeship.

Equality and Diversity Promoted in Teaching, Learning and Assessment

Apprentice's additional support needs related to disabilities, diagnosed special education needs, learning difficulties or additional needs are planned for and where an apprentice or learner is studying or completing an apprenticeship, Maybird Training will follow the guidelines set out in the relevant Adjustment Policies published by each awarding organisation to ensure fair and equal access to assessments and examinations, where applicable.

All teaching, learning and assessment staff will be trained to apply an equality analysis to their scheme of work and lesson plans to ensure that:

- Materials and teaching, learning and assessment methods foster good relations, are sensitive to and promote equality of opportunity.
- The needs of individuals are planned for in teaching sessions to ensure that they can achieve, progress and flourish.

Maybird Training management will apply its observation of teaching policy, annual appraisal, and performance management systems to ensure that:

- Teaching, learning, and assessment staff have consistently high expectations in ensuring that learning activities motivate and engage all apprentices, whatever their age, ability, and cultural background, and that they are suitably demanding.
- All teaching, learning and assessment staff are highly adept at working with and developing knowledge, skills and behaviours in all apprentices and demonstrate this in a range of learning environments.
- Equality and diversity are integrated fully into the learning experience and teaching, learning and assessment staff manage apprentices' behaviours skillfully; they show great awareness of Fundamental British Values and equality and diversity in teaching sessions.
- All staff and apprentice requirements will be reflected in the delivery and support given. We will consider how support can be given for SEND or learning disabilities. Where appropriate we will provide the resources and equipment needed to enable all staff and apprentices to engage with their roles and responsibilities, as well as their learning/training.

Leadership & Management

Maybird Training will implement equal, diverse, and inclusive practice in all its training activities in line with the definition and standards of the relevant qualification, Awarding Organisations, End Point Assessment Organisations and other regulatory bodies it works with. Maybird Training will report annually to measure the achievement of its equality and diversity activities.

Access to Learning, Training and Recruitment

Maybird Training will strive to ensure that learning and recruitment opportunities are available to all. No individual will be excluded from a learning, apprenticeship, or recruitment opportunity on the grounds of their age, disability, gender reassignment, race, religion or belief, sex, training or caring status, sexual orientation or marital or civil partnership status. We will record and monitor individual participation/application and withdrawal/rejection of learning/recruitment opportunities to ensure equality of opportunity and fair representation.

For apprentices: Initial advice and guidance is impartial and seeks to ensure that individuals are offered appropriate training opportunities for them to achieve their aims without bias.

We will support all apprentices as far as reasonably possible (but subject to funding and health and safety requirements) to pursue the learning programme of their choice and make all efforts to ensure physical access to the learning/workplace environment. In circumstances where this is not possible, we will identify alternative options/provision.

For apprentice employers: We will provide Maybird Training services only to employers who support our commitment to equality and diversity and comply with related requirements. We expect employers to ensure fair access to Maybird Training courses and work-based opportunities and to strive to monitor employer's and apprentice's participation and performance.

Selection for employment, promotion, or any other employment benefit, as well as access to training for learners, will be made based on aptitude and ability. (For learners, this may also be dependent on funding availability). All staff and apprentices will be helped and encouraged to develop their full potential.

Recruitment of Staff

The design of jobs, working hours and related practices can discriminate against certain groups of applicants. As vacancies arise the requirements of individual jobs will be reviewed and redesigned where necessary to ensure that we can recruit the broadest possible range of suitable people.

Maybird Training recognises the need to consider, where appropriate, flexible working patterns such as job share, term time only, part-time working or home working where an employee has a need to reduce their working hours. These methods of working will be considered dependent on business needs.

Wherever appropriate, vacancies will normally be advertised within the Company first to provide an equal opportunity for all interested persons to apply.

One exception to the above applies when special arrangements are made for the redeployment of personnel who would otherwise be at risk of redundancy within the Company.

Where it is appropriate an external application form can be used. This should be designed to obtain all the necessary information for a fair and instructive interview and for the screening and selection of applicants. Personal details which are not necessary for a recruitment decision to be made - such as marital status, number of children, next of kin, gender, age, race, or religious belief are, therefore, not specified. Additional details of this nature will be needed for recording and monitoring purposes and as such will be kept by the administrator on a separate confidential form.

Training in interviewing skills and equality and diversity will be given for all those concerned with recruitment. Prior to the selection process, managers will examine all selection criteria to ensure that they are related to the job requirements and are not discriminatory.

Consideration should be given as to whether practical experience or actual achievements in previous employment may act as a satisfactory substitute for higher education or professional qualifications. In assessing qualifications, it will not be assumed that overseas diplomas or degrees are of a lower standard than their UK equivalents although their validity will still be checked. Wherever possible experience may count as an equivalent to professional qualifications. Careful consideration will be given as to whether any minimum or maximum number of years relevant experience is necessary for effective performance of the job. Such restrictions will not be imposed unless there is a proper job-based reason why they are necessary. All appointments will be made solely on merit.

Supporting Diversity in the Workplace

The following list details some of the ways that Maybird Training will support diversity throughout the business.

- Recognise that all staff are individuals and will therefore respond to them, and their social identity, in an individual manner.
- Ensuring that employment opportunities are available as full or part time roles wherever possible and that we can be flexible about working hours to suit individual needs.
- Ensuring that roles can be performed at home, if necessary, in most cases, to support individual needs.
- Provide staff training to increase our knowledge and understanding of aspects of social identity that may be different from our own, and how to support people with different social identities.

Disclosure and additional support provisions

Before starting and during learning, apprenticeship or employment, individuals will be given opportunity (in confidence) to disclose any disability, learning difficulty or additional need they may have. This is to ensure we put in place additional or alternative support or adapted working practices where reasonably practical and possible. We will explain why this information is being sought and how it will be used. We will ask individuals to let us know of any personal commitments or barriers which can affect their commitment or time in learning, an apprenticeship or employment and offer help/alternative ways of training or working to minimise their impact.

Additionally: For apprentices: Where an apprentice discloses a disability, learning difficulty or additional need, we will identify what additional or alternative support provisions need to be put in place in discussion with them. We will endeavour to secure and provide any additional support for the duration of the apprentices learning programme where reasonably practical and possible and in full, agreed disclosure by the apprentice. We will also work in partnership with the apprentice employer to support them to identify and provide additional or alternative support provisions to ensure that employment is accessible, where this is reasonably accessible.

Support could be in the form of additional/alternative assistance, provision of a specialist service, involvement of personal carers/support workers, provision of alternative or adaptive equipment or learning/training environment etc. Where it is not reasonably possible to provide required and sufficient (specialist) support to enable an apprentice/learner to achieve, we will signpost to more suitable provision.

Where barriers to learning cannot be minimised to such an extent to make learning/training with Maybird Training viable, we will refer the apprentice/learner to a referral agency and/or signpost them to alternative provision.

For staff: Where a staff member declares a disability, reasonable steps will be taken to accommodate this by making reasonable adjustments. The company may consider redeployment and appropriate re-training to enable the staff member to remain in employment wherever possible.

For apprentice employers: We will, where appropriate and with the apprentice or learner's permission, share information on any disability, learning difficulty, additional needs and/or barriers to learning and where appropriate require support/ provision from the apprentice employer to accommodate these in the apprentice's learning, training, and employment.

Advertising and Marketing

Maybird Training will apply an annual equality analysis to ensure that:

- Diversity is promoted in publications and visual communications.
- Telesales techniques used are enhanced by alternative communication systems to promote inclusivity.
- Outreach is carefully targeted to underrepresented and disadvantaged groups of potential apprentices and employers.

Progress and achievement

Maybird Training will measure and report annually on groups of apprentices to identify any significant variations in their progress and that the achievement rate of apprentices is in line and greater than the national average. Maybird Training will set challenging targets to ensure that the performance and destinations of different groups of apprentices are carefully monitored, and appropriate action is taken to close any identified gaps.

Maybird Training will ensure that all equality and diversity aspects are fully assessed, and appropriate action is built into strategic plans and the impact of plans is monitored and follow-up action is taken to address areas for improvement.

Maybird Training will ensure that staff and apprentices understand their roles and responsibilities in relation to equality and diversity.

Through the implementation of accompanying policies Maybird Training will ensure that apprentices, learners, employers, and staff are protected from harassment, bullying and discrimination, including those based with employers and at other sites external to the provider and that incidents and complaints specifically about equality, diversity and bullying are proactively managed and acted upon, including, where appropriate, providing counselling and support.

Maybird Training will ensure that arrangements for apprentice and employer feedback actively facilitate all apprentices and employers, including those with learning difficulties and/or disabilities, to share their views on the provision.

Reporting Discriminatory Behaviour

Any staff member may use the grievance procedure to complain about discriminatory conduct. Similarly, apprentices or employers should use the complaint procedure, to make a complaint. Maybird Training will take such complaints very seriously, and will thoroughly investigate all complaints objectively, according to the grievance/complaint procedure.

No individual will be penalised or victimised for raising a genuine grievance, however individuals raising serious complaints that are found to be both untrue and made in bad faith, may be subject to disciplinary action.

Any staff member or apprentice who harasses any other staff member or apprentice on the grounds of sex, sexual orientation, age, disability, gender reassignment, marital or civil partnership status, carers status, race, colour, religion, sex or sexual orientation will be subject to Maybird Training's disciplinary procedure. In serious cases, such behaviour will be deemed to constitute gross misconduct and, as such, will result in summary dismissal, in the absence of mitigating circumstances. Additionally, we take the welfare of our staff very seriously and will not tolerate unlawful discrimination from members of the public.

Monitoring

All staff and applicants including apprentices will be asked to voluntarily provide information about their sex, ethnic origin, and any disabilities. Maybird Training guarantees that this information will only be used for the purpose of monitoring the effectiveness of its equality and diversity policy.

The compositions of the workforce and job applicants will be monitored on a regular basis. Should inequalities become apparent, positive action will be taken to redress the imbalance, including such measures as advertising jobs in ethnic or male/female interest publications, as appropriate.

This equality and diversity policy applies to the advertisement of jobs, recruitment, conditions of work, pay and to every other aspect of employment and appointing of staff. It also applies to the training and recruitment of apprentices. The policy also applies equally to the treatment of our employers, customers including apprentices and the parents and children we meet.

Implementing anti-discriminatory practice

Maybird Training will implement this policy by:

- Making and publicising our clear statement on equality and diversity.
- Ensuring that it is a condition of employment, or acceptance onto a training course, that all staff and apprentices understand, agree with and are willing to implement this policy.
- Monitoring our programmes, events, publicity, and services to ensure that they too lead to the elimination of discrimination.
- Adopting recruitment policies, which aim to ensure that no applicant, staff, or apprentice of Maybird Training is discriminated against, on any grounds.
- Adopting policies, which positively encourage participation in the activities at Maybird Training by those who are particularly subject to wider disadvantages within society.
- Creating an environment in which individual differences, and the contributions of all our staff and apprentices are recognised and valued.
- Ensuring that every staff member and apprentice is entitled to a working environment that promotes dignity and respect to all. No form of intimidation, bullying or harassment will be tolerated.
- Offering training and development opportunities to all staff and apprentices.
- Ensuring that staff and apprentices are aware of current legislation and guidance and develop a greater understanding of significant issues relating to gender, ethnicity, sexuality, class and disability.

Staff will be encouraged to develop a greater understanding of significant issues relating to gender, ethnicity, sexuality, class and disability and the impact that discrimination can have on people's lives. They will be made aware of current legislation and guidance and take part in training as appropriate.

Supporting Diversity

The following list details some of the ways that Maybird Training will support diversity throughout the business. This is not; however, an exhaustive list and Maybird Training will continue to seek and adopt new methods for supporting the individual needs of apprentices, learners, and staff.

- Recognise that all staff and apprentices are individuals and will therefore respond to them, and their social identity, in an individual manner.
- Ensure that employment opportunities are available as full or part time roles wherever possible and that we can be flexible about working hours to suit individual needs.
- Ensure that roles can be performed at home, if necessary, in most cases, to support individual needs.
- Offer both paper portfolios and e-learning to our apprentices, to ensure that we can support all apprentices, including those who are disadvantaged, and those who are based in remote locations. Maybird Training will support apprentices to gain access to IT equipment to support them in their training.
- Conduct thorough initial assessments to ascertain details of any learning difficulties, cultural requirements, or other pertinent information, which will allow teaching, learning and assessment staff to support individual apprentice or learner needs, and use assessment methods that are most appropriate to the apprentice or learner.
- Use plain English for all marketing and communication and will ensure that all literature is available in larger fonts, and different print colour combinations if desired.
- We will utilise a range of methods to communicate with staff and apprentices including letters, emails, SMS, Teams/Zoom, Live-Chat facilities, face-to-face meetings, and graphical presentations, to ensure that messages are conveyed accurately, and in a way that the recipient is comfortable with.
- Undertake training to increase our knowledge and understanding of aspects of social identity that may be different from our own, and how to support people with different social identities.
- Resources, materials, and literature are presented in a way that is sensitive to equality and diversity, and that consideration is taken to represent the diverse range of individuals who access the provision.

Promoting Fundamental British Values

These British Values are democracy; individual liberty; the rule of law; mutual respect; tolerance of those with different faiths and belief. Each is defined below and placed in a training context using examples. It is, without question, everyone's duty to ensure we do not undermine these Fundamental British Values.

Maybird Training aims to promote an enrichment, in addition to all subjects across the curriculum offer the opportunity to discuss moral issues, personal experience, social and cultural issues to help apprentices to develop their skills.

Maybird Training provides very specific training linked to the Prevent Duty. All staff understand that any concern about extremism or radicalisation of our apprentices or learners is to be treated as a safeguarding issue and thus should be treated in the same way. We have a robust procedure in place should we have any concerns. We ensure that through open discussion within learning environments we enable apprentices to test out their ideas in a safe and supportive environment where staff can challenge and broaden understanding of the wider world. (For further information see Prevention of Extremism and Radicalisation Policy)

Types of Discrimination

We oppose all forms of unlawful and unfair discrimination.

It is important that all individuals associated with Maybird Training understand what is meant by discrimination:

- Direct Discrimination – treating a person less favourably than others on grounds of sex, marital status, colour, race, nationality, ethnicity, age, pay or national origin.
- Indirect Discrimination – applying a requirement or condition, which, although applied equally to all persons is such that a considerably small proportion of persons of a particular sex, marital status, or racial group can comply with it and it, cannot be shown to be necessary for the satisfactory performance of the job.
- Victimisation – treating a person less favourably than other persons because for example that person has used their rights under the acts. There must be no discrimination in respect of assessment decisions made by assessors and verifiers.
- Harassment - When a person is on the receiving end of unwanted behaviour related to a protected characteristic which has the purpose of: Violating a person's dignity or creating an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment. This could also include a complaint about the behaviour direct at others that others in the room may find offensive.
- Discrimination by association – This is direct discrimination against someone because they associate with another person who possesses a protected characteristic.
- Perception discrimination – This is direct discrimination against an individual because others think they possess a particular protected characteristic. It applies even if the person does not actually possess that characteristic.
- Third party harassment – Employers are now potentially liable for harassment of employees by people (third party) who are not employees of the company, such as customers, or clients. Employers are only liable when harassment issues have occurred on at least two occasions and the employer has not taken reasonable steps to stop it.

This policy will be reviewed annually or earlier if required.
